

Just leave the new law alone, I pay for the use of my phone not all these nuts calling me so I should be able to say I don't want their calls. Since this law went in to effect I have some peace from these rude people, I'm 68 years old I don't want to be getting up and answering my phone for somebody trying to sell me something I don't want in the first place. Let me have my peace, leave the law alone.
